So you're still in New York and reading the blogs. Here are ten fun shows made for summer, from McCarthy's twisted forest, to MonkeyTown, to a survey of New York's untapped Jews.

The Hive

EFA Project Space

323 West 39th Street, 3rd floor

Reception: Thursday, June 27, 6 – 8:30pm

Two of the city's more forward-thinking granting programs, the Elizabeth Foundation and A Blade of Grass, team up to create The Hive, three projects exploring empathy. The Feminist Economics Department explores the exploitative nature of the security industry, Robby Herbst explores group dynamics, and Piero Passacantando will encourage people to rethink the cubicle.
