

Art

19. See The Book Lovers

An exhibition ... of fiction ... by visual artists.

If you're feeling multidisciplinary, go see "The Book Lovers," a display of about 140 novels written by artists, from Salvador Dalí to Sophie Calle to Tom McCarthy. You'll get two art forms (and more: The exhibit includes a range of multimedia work) for the price of one—and the price is free.

—Kathryn Schulz

The Elizabeth Foundation for the Arts's Project Space, through March 9, details at efanyc.org.

<http://nymag.com/arts/all/to-do-2013-3-11/index1.html>